
DATE

Thursday, 15th January 2009

LOCATION

Four Seasons Hotel, Canary Wharf

1:30PM

Registration/Coffee

4:30PM

Drinks Reception

VIP Invitation to the GSL Summit:

End of the beginning?

On the eve of the scheduled end of the FSA short selling ban on financial stocks, regulators, industry associations, service providers and participants in securities lending discuss the turbulence of the past year, the ban, and ask are we on the road to recovery?

The event is free of charge to attend but by invitation only.

For speaking and sponsorship opportunities please contact:

Catherine Kemp

Catherine@2ipartners.com
Tel: +44 (0) 20 7299 7714

Justin Lawson

Justin@2ipartners.com
Tel: +44 (0) 20 7299 7707

Please RSVP by email:

vipdelegate@2ipartners.com

Sponsor

1:30pm Registration / Coffee

2.00pmOpening address: What are the default market settings?

Speaker: Ed Oliver senior business consultant, Spitalfields Advisors

2.20pmPanel Debate: Risk

Counterparty credit risk, trade settlement risk, reinvestment risk and interest rate volatility are all presenting challenges to the market. With plans afoot to launch central counterparty services for securities lending, the panel will discuss the evolution of the securities lending market.

Chair: David Rule, CEO of the International Securities Lending Association (ISLA)

Panellists: Rupert Perry, director at Pirum Systems Ltd.; Roy Zimmerhansl, principal at Zimmerhansl Consulting Services; Brian Lamb CEO of EquiLend; Peter Fenichel, CEO of SecFinex; David Little head of Securities Finance at Rule Financial.

3.00pm Coffee / Networking

3.20pm Second address: Technology: Critical Edge

3.45pm Third address: Purpose & Practice

4.05pmPanel Debate: What next?

The panel will discuss what we have learned about participation in securities lending programmes during the last five months and look at what needs to change.

Chair: Mark Faulkner, managing director of Spitalfields Advisors.

Panellists: John McEllin, head of securities lending at Bank of Ireland Securities Services; Paul Wilson, managing director, financing & markets products, Worldwide Securities Services, J.P. Morgan; Jane Karczewski, managing director, Securities Finance Sales, Deutsche Bank; Chris Taylor, senior managing director and regional business director, Securities Finance, State Street.

Q&A Session

4.45pm Drinks reception
